Omamesan Shinaji Katamedaki Tambaguro Kuromame

(firmly cooked Omamesan Tambaguro Kuromame with a new flavor)

Firm texture represents “homemade” quality
Launched new products that meticulously address
customers’ voices

Carrying on and developing “Osechi” (traditional Japanese New Year’s cuisine) culture is Fujicco’s mission

“Both the firmness and sweetness were exactly to my liking. While there is a trend where soft beans are preferred, it is also great to have just beans and sugar as ingredients!”

“I bought it at the end of the year, and it was really delicious, so I looked for it at a nearby supermarket, but they didn't have it. It was firm, less sweet, and tasty, so I hope you will continue to sell it in the future.”

“All New Year’s black beans I've bought in the past were always boiled soft, but I was surprised by how delicious this firm-cooked version was. I imagine there must have been some opposing opinions within your company about commercializing a firm-cooked version, but I'm so glad you had the courage to release it!”

Progress of the 2025–2027 Medium-term Management Plan

First Year of the Medium-term Management Plan

The biggest challenge identified in a business environment of soaring prices: “The decrease in our customer base”

What we achieved

1. Improving management efficiency through structural transformation

Promoted business restructuring, plant consolidation, and cost reduction.
Secured profit growth and a lower break-even point despite sluggish sales.

2. Starting initiatives for renewed growth

Set the yogurt business as the third pillar and started forming a strategy to double sales.

The new product Caspian Sea Yogurt Richmo performed better than planned.

For overseas business, acquired a Thai frozen food firm to explore new developments in seaweed and delicatessen.

3. Building a foundation for digital and generative AI utilization

Started operation of eight DX tools.

Established an environment where employees can utilize generative AI.

Challenge

1. Decrease in sales volume as the number of customers fell

Despite higher unit prices from the March price increase, sales volume dropped sharply.

Product value enhancement failed to keep pace with price increases.

Revising the strategy based on the challenges of the first year, and newly establishing “customer-first principle” in the basic policy

Basic Policy

Enhance customer satisfaction in kombu and beans by gathering the full force of employees, and accelerate the growth of yogurt as the third pillar

(Previous policy: Reshaping the future of kombu and beans together with customers by gathering full force of employees)

Basic strategy

Strengthen core businesses and expand business areas

Secure unrivalled competitive edge

Pursue efficient management

Strengthen business foundation

Promoting of DX / Human capital management / Sustainability / Capital policy (capital allocation)

Progress on the Four Basic Strategies

Strengthen core businesses and expand business areas

- While kombu products struggled in H1 due to the impact of price hikes, they turned to a recovery trend in H2 through reinforced marketing activities and new products.
- In bean products, we expanded the business areas in the year-end sales campaign by releasing new products that meticulously address customer needs, achieving certain results in demand creation.
- For yogurt, we enhanced its product appeal centered on the launch of Caspian Sea Yogurt Richmo Plain 900g and made progress toward medium- to long-term growth.

Secure unrivalled competitive edge

- To address the problem of depleting kombu raw materials, we steadily proceeded with unique initiatives through collaboration with producers, such as expanding the use of Namakombu ingredients and conducting breeding research.
- Following functional research on black soybean polyphenols, the notification of Foods with Function Claims for "reducing fatigue," "improving cold sensitivity," and "improving sleep quality" was accepted.

Pursue efficient management

- We worked to improve management efficiency and profitability through the decision for restructuring of the business portfolio and plant consolidation.

- We promoted capital policy with a view to improving future capital efficiency, while continuing to prioritize growth investment.

[Comments by product category]

Delicatessen products: While sales of Obanzai Kobachi remained robust, sales decreased year on year due to the impact of a decline in sales of prepared Chinese foods resulting from the transfer of shares of Foods Palette Co., Ltd., and the weak performance of daily delivered delicatessen products.

Kombu* products: Although the sales volume of Tsukudani Fujicconi decreased temporarily due to the impact of price increases, we implemented a turnaround strategy by airing TV commercials in autumn, and sales rose above the previous year level. Valu-sized Shio-kombu (salted kombu) saw significant sales growth.

Bean products: Although we strived for demand creation by launching new products in the year-end sales campaign, sales fell year on year impacted by market contraction. Sales of water boiled and steamed bean products also struggled.

Yogurt products: Sales of the Caspian Sea Yogurt series remained robust and exceeded the previous year. The new product Caspian Sea Yogurt Richmo contributed to sales growth.

Dessert products: After the price revision, we worked on a transition to value-based selling.

[Comments by product category]

Delicatessen products: In addition to the weak performance of Asanotaberu Soup and packaged delicatessen Okazubatake, sales fell below the plan as daily delivered delicatessen products were affected by the insourcing of products by customers.

Kombu* products: Although Tsukudani Fujicconi fell slightly short of the plan, the total sales exceeded the plan as sales of Shio-kombu (salted kombu) grew significantly.

Bean products: Sales fell significantly below the plan due to the impact of the downward trend in the boiled bean products market and a budget-conscious market environment for water boiled and steamed bean products.

Yogurt products: Although Marugoto SOY Caspian Sea Yogurt exceeded the plan, total sales fell slightly below the plan.

Dessert products: Sales fell significantly below the plan as sales volume dropped more than expected due to the price increase.
